Guide for Parents Using

Exploring World History

Exploring World History provides material for one entire school year in three subjects: world history, English, and Bible. To complete one credit in world history, one credit in English, and one credit in Bible, the student must read the text in Exploring World History Part 1 and Part 2 and complete the weekly and daily assignments as they are given in those volumes.

Students should complete each day’s assignments on that day. The student should expect to spend an average of 50 to 60 minutes on each subject each day. The actual time spent on each subject on a given day will vary, but you should allow your student about 2 1/2 to 3 hours per day to complete all three subjects.

We believe that you are in charge of your child’s education and that you know best how to use this material to educate your child. We provide you with tools and instructions, but we encourage you to tailor them to fit your child’s interests and abilities and your family’s situation and philosophy. You might need to experiment with the curriculum for two or three weeks to know how your student can use it most effectively in your situation. Being able to do this is one of the benefits of homeschooling!

Course Descriptions

You can use the following course descriptions as you develop your school records, produce a high school transcript, or report grades.

World History. This course is a survey of world history from Creation to the 21st Century. The course discusses civilizations from around the world. A special emphasis is placed on key events, key ideas, key persons, and everyday life in various time periods of world history. The student reads a significant number of original documents and speeches while studying the narrative of lessons.

English: World Literature and Composition. The student reads classic works of world literature including novels, short stories, devotional literature, plays, theological essays, biographies, memoirs, poetry, and hymns. Emphasis is placed on how the literature reflects the historical settings of the works. The student also has several writing assignments. Most of these are based on historical issues from the various periods of world history. The writing assignments take several forms, including essays, editorials, speeches, and letters. (Note: You have the option of assigning a 2,000-2,500 word research paper [see page xii in Part 1]. You also have the option of assigning other kinds of projects for each unit as alternatives to writing. You will need to decide how often your student will complete a writing assignment and how often he or she will complete another project.)

Bible: Issues in World History. This course provides an overview of the Bible and Bible history, including both its message of faith and how it complements our understanding of history. The student reads several complete books of the Bible as well as several of the Psalms and portions of other books. The student also studies such topics as Old Testament history, church history, the inspiration and authority of the Bible, and how to study a New Testament letter. Topical Bible studies bring Biblical teachings to bear on several of the historical issues discussed. (Note: The Bible study component of this curriculum is concentrated in the first half since that part covers Old Testament and New Testament times, but the second half has a significant amount of Bible study also.)
Student Review Pack

The Student Review Pack has a great deal of material that you might find helpful for increasing your student’s understanding of the course and for giving you a way to know and grade your student’s grasp of the content. It is an optional supplement that contains the following three components.

The Student Review includes review questions on each lesson and on the readings from In Their Words; commentary on Bible readings assigned at the end of lessons; and literary analysis of the books assigned in the curriculum. (The Bible commentary and literary analysis are also available on our website through the link given on page 8.)

The Quiz and Exam Book has a quiz to be taken at the end of each unit. In addition, after every five units, it has a history exam, an English exam, and a Bible exam. That makes a total of six exams in each subject over the course of the year.

The Answer Key contains answers for all of the review questions and for the quizzes and exams.

Suggestions for Grading

To earn credit in world history, English, and Bible, the student is expected to complete the assignments listed on the second page of each unit introduction and all of the assignments listed at the end of each lesson, except for the Student Review, which is optional. A weekly assignment checklist is available on our website.

You have several activities that you can include in arriving at a grade for each subject. These activities include: memory work; unit projects (writing assignments and hands-on projects); review questions for each lesson, for the readings in In Their Words, and for the literature selections; unit quizzes on history; and exams every five weeks on history, English, and Bible. You can give equal weight to each element, or you might choose to give different weight to each component.

Depending on the chosen topic, you might choose to grade some of the weekly writing assignments as history or Bible assignments instead of as English assignments. You might choose to grade some of the readings in In Their Words as Bible assignments when they deal with topics that are related to Bible study. You might also count some of the literature titles as English or Bible work. For instance, you might count The Art of War and Bridge to the Sun as reading for history. You might count The Imitation of Christ, Here I Stand, The Hiding Place, and The Abolition of Man as part of the Bible credit.

Grades are usually assigned on a percentage basis for an individual assignment and as letter grades for a semester on the basis of the cumulative assignment grades. We recommend giving an A if the average weighted grade is 90% or above, giving a B for 80-89%, a C for 70-79%, and a D for 60-69%.

If your child consistently gets grades lower than 60%, you might need to evaluate his readiness to study a course with this level of difficulty. On the other hand, you might need to adjust your expectations. You might consider an additional grading element based on your perception of your child’s overall grasp of the material. This is another advantage of homeschooling: you can judge how well your child understands the material and how he or she is growing from the study in ways that are not reflected by test and assignment scores.

We designed this curriculum to cover what we believe a high school student should learn about world history. Helping a student pass the CLEP or AP test was not our primary goal. However, this course provides a good foundation for preparing for those tests, combined with one of the test preparation books that are available.
Teaching Writing

The three most important activities to help students write well are reading good writing, writing as frequently as possible, and having his or her writing critiqued by an experienced writer or teacher.

You can find many aids to help you in teaching writing. The Online Writing Lab from Purdue University is an excellent source that is available on the Internet. We have found The Elements of Style by William Strunk Jr. and E. B. White to be concise and helpful. This book is available from Notgrass Company and many other sources.

Other resources that have been recommended to us include The Elegant Essay by Lesha Myers, Format Writing by Frode Jensen, Writing Skills by Diana Hanbury King, and Teaching the Essay and Teaching the Research Paper by Robin Finley. The Institute for Excellence in Writing offers comprehensive instructional courses, and Reconciliation Press offers writing instruction services. These suggestions are offered as resources you can investigate. We do not endorse one program over another.

Grading Writing Assignments

Teaching writing skills can sometimes feel more like an art than a science. We know good writing when we read it, but trying to explain why we like it is like trying to explain why we like a particular flavor of ice cream. Good writing engages the reader and makes him or her want to keep reading. It covers the subject well and uses proper mechanics (spelling, grammar, and punctuation). Good writing informs, inspires, and sometimes challenges the reader. Above all, good writing says something of significance.

Because defining good writing is difficult, giving a grade to a writing assignment can be somewhat subjective. What is the difference, for example, between an A paper and a B paper? One student might write the best that he or she can, and it still might not be as good as what another student writes with less effort. What grade should you assign to that first student’s work? In addition, how can the grades you give reflect a student’s improvement over the course of a year? After all, we hope that the student will be writing better at the end of the year than at the beginning.

A grade for a writing assignment usually has two elements: one is mechanics, and the other is coverage of the subject matter. Noting errors in spelling and punctuation is relatively easy. Misused words and awkward sentences might be more difficult to detect. The most difficult part of grading is determining whether or not the paper is organized well and covers the topic adequately.

Beginning with the highest possible grade of 100, you might want to take a point off for every misspelled word, punctuation error, or grammatical error. An awkward sentence might count two or three points off. A paragraph that does not flow well or have a clear purpose might cost five to eight points. You can also consider whether the paper is well-expressed but has mechanical errors as opposed to its being poorly expressed but mechanically good. We suggest not giving a grade on the writing assignment until the student submits the final version of the assignment. Use the rough draft as a teaching opportunity. It is fair to have higher expectations later in the course. Also, if a student has numerous mechanical or grammatical errors in a paper, covering the paper with red ink might do more harm than good. Instead, focus on what appear to be the three most serious or common mistakes and don’t worry about the rest at that point. When the student has corrected these problems, move on to other problems to correct in later papers.
The website of the College Board, which administers the SAT and CLEP examinations, has an Essay Scoring Guide that its graders use. On their website, you can read this guide and also read sample essays and see why those essays received the scores they did. In addition, the National Assessment of Educational Progress program of the U.S. Department of Education has information available online about its writing assessment.

You will probably find it helpful to have someone outside your family read one or more of your student’s essays and give constructive feedback at some point during the school year.

Maps and Timelines

If you want more maps besides those included in the text of Exploring World History, consider materials offered by Geography Matters. Our website has links to some free map resources available online. See the website address at the end of this booklet.

Timelines of world history are available from Geography Matters and other publishers. You might consider creating your own timeline in the format that works best for you, such as a chart, successive pages in a book, or a long sheet of paper that you can post on a wall.

Notes About the Literature

We chose literature for the English component of Exploring World History that we believe is inspiring and informative and that won’t assault your student’s faith or sense of decency. We intentionally excluded many books that did not meet our criteria.

Some of the books we included have words or ideas with which you will be uncomfortable, as we are. We want to let you know about these issues in case you want to do some editing before your child reads the books or in case you want to substitute another book. You might want to read a book aloud to your student and skip over inappropriate words. Our family has done this with several books. However you decide to use them, we believe that the overall impact of these books for good outweighs an occasional use of inappropriate words. The editions indicated below are the ones that are available from Notgrass Company.

The Imitation of Christ (Dover)

This book is a good example of devotional literature and has some excellent insights. It reflects Catholic doctrines and practices such as the monastic life (page 13), thinking of saints as special people (page 14), portraying a “religious” person as a monk (pages 15-16), the idea that communion involves a mysterious participation with Christ (several places in Book Four), and the view of the priesthood as a special class in the church (pages 123-124).

The Hiding Place (Bantam/Random House)

The most difficult part of this book is the description of the horrible conditions that Corrie Ten Boom and others endured at the hands of the Germans.

Bridge to the Sun (Rock Creek Books)

Gwen Terasaki married her husband, a Japanese diplomat in the Untied States, before World War II. They were sent to Japan during the war, even though her husband had strongly opposed the attack on Pearl Harbor. Gwen makes a few references to prayer, but her religious perspective is not strongly articulated in the book.

- Gwen teases her husband Terry by calling him a “silly a—” (page 39).
- She quotes her husband referring to another person’s “d— ancestors” in anger (page 58).
• Gwen quotes her grandfather using the curse “God d—it” (page 93).
• She quotes a friend as saying, “Oh, h—” (page 121).
• Gwen quotes a little Japanese boy calling himself a “b—” (page 175).
• She quotes a military officer exclaiming, “I’ll be d—” (page 194).
• Gwen quotes another soldier as saying “God d—it” (page 197).

Cry, the Beloved Country (Scribner/Simon & Schuster)

This novel conveys a story that is harsh and sad in many ways, but it is true to life as it was in South Africa in the late 1940s. The book provides a window on the racial conflict and the trials of modernization that took place there. Life has troubling situations like those described here, although you have to decide if your child is ready to read about them. A murder occurs in the course of the story, but it is not described in graphic detail.

On the positive side, the book contains numerous references to faith in God. Christian people do good in the face of evil. In addition, the end of the story shows how good can come when people work together instead of remaining apart. It is a story of redemption, of bringing good out of something that is bad.

• There are references to and discussion of an immoral lifestyle (pages 53 and 60-61).
• A young girl becomes pregnant out of wedlock. Another character downplays this fact and says, “The real question is whether he will care for them, and lead a decent life” (page 98). Physical intimacy outside of marriage is wrong for both the man and the woman involved.
• A use of “d—” (page 108).
• A use of “bitch” in its proper sense, referring to a female dog (page 110).
• Kumalo wonders how a man can commit murder, and phrases are used to describe how it happens (page 119).
• Kumalo has thoughts about desiring a girl (page 146).
• A use of “h—” (page 172).
• Uses of “d—” and “n—” (page 183).
• A policeman calls another man a “b—” (page 219).
• Reference to the temptation to commit adultery (page 305).

The Abolition of Man (HarperCollins)

Lewis’ point in this book is that truth and virtue exist outside of man’s thinking. The goal of education should be to teach these eternal truths to the next generation.

• You might have to explain castration (page 26).
• Lewis refers to sex a few times (pages 33, 36, 63, and 78) and to contraceptives (pages 54-55).
• Lewis uses “bastard” in its original sense, meaning a child born to an unmarried woman (page 60).
Alternate Literature Selections

If you choose not to use one or more of the books that we suggest for this curriculum, here are some other titles for you to consider:

- Novels by G. A. Henty give good historical information as the backdrop to the stories he tells. Henty wrote dozens of books. Most of them deal with English and European history from medieval to modern times, but he wrote several dealing with ancient history. Be aware that Henty’s novels are usually quite violent and contain elements of condescension toward non-English cultures.

- The Bronze Bow by Elizabeth George Speare is a Newbery Medal book (1962) set in the time of Christ. It focuses on a young man caught up with Zealots who wanted to defeat the Romans and how the young man is changed by Christ.

- The Door in the Wall by Marguerite de Angeli (Newbery Medal, 1950) is set in medieval England and gives good historical background that helps the reader understand life during that period.

- Instead of Here I Stand, you might select a biography of Martin Luther for younger readers.

- Young Fu of the Upper Yangtze by Elizabeth Foreman Lewis, the 1933 Newbery Medal winner, reflects life in China in the 1920s amid the political and social chaos that existed there at the time.

We hope that using this curriculum will be a positive experience for you and your student. May God bless and guide you in it. Thank you for choosing Exploring World History!

Unit 1

Lesson 1

1. List some specific characteristics of God. God is eternal; God has always existed and will always exist; God is spirit; God is not limited by space and time; other answers possible. (3)

2. What is the most important part of human history? Man’s relationship with God (3)

3. What great quest began when man first rebelled against God? Quest for reconciliation (3)

4. Why do you think most of mankind has resisted knowing and submitting to God? Answers will vary.

5. What connections do you have with every other human being who has ever lived? We were all created by God; God wants to have a personal relationship with all of us; we are all descendants of Adam and Eve; other answers possible. (3)

6. Why should we study world history? To help shed light on our identity and purpose, and to learn lessons about society and relationships (4)

7. Name five people who lived one hundred or more years ago who continue to influence what happens in the world. Answers will vary.

8. Name four events in the history of the world that directly affect your life. Many answers possible. Examples: the Tower of Babel, Jesus’ death on the cross, Paul’s writing of New Testament letters, Columbus’ journey to North America, the American Revolution, the Louisiana Purchase, World War II

9. Why do we have a responsibility to fulfill God’s purposes for us? We share the same human condition, we have been given life for the same purpose—to honor God

10. Name three reasons you think it is important to know world history. Answers will vary.

Lesson 2

1. How does the lifestyle of the fictional boy Pedro differ from yours? In what ways are your lives similar? Answers will vary.

2. Name three ways that different cultures interacted and thus influenced each other in history. Answers will vary, but might include: many South American people adopted the Catholic faith of the Spanish; Japan absorbed American business techniques after World War II; Israel wanted a king like its neighbors. (7-8)

3. Name three ways that different cultures interact and thus influence each other in today’s world. Answers will vary, but might include: American culture influences people around the world through the television programs and movies produced here; Chinese-produced goods are sold around the world; fear of Islamic terrorism has increased as that religion has spread in many countries.

4. What is one tendency Americans have when studying world history? Looking at world history through American lenses; seeing America as the standard to which others countries should be compared (9)

5. When did the United States of America become a major player on the world stage? After the Spanish-American War of 1898 (9)

6. When did the United States of America come to be seen as a superpower? After World War II (9)

7. Persons from how many countries other than the U.S. died in the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks? 62 (9)

8. Describe one principle held by you or your family that is the opposite of a principle held by others. Answers will vary.

9. What “lenses” do we need to look through to see right and wrong? The lenses of God’s Word (10)

10. What cultures have an influence on daily life in your family? Answers will vary.

Lesson 3

1. Briefly describe your role in the daily life of your family. Answers will vary.

2. How does your family make the money it needs for clothing, food, and shelter? Answers will vary.

3. What is the history of the Christian faith in your family? Answers will vary.

4. Why do you live in the place where you live? Who made the decision? When was it made? Answers will vary.

5. Describe the geographic features that affect your daily life. Answers will vary.

6. What do you know about the countries your ancestors were from? Answers will vary.

7. Was anyone in your extended family or ancestry involved in a war? Answers will vary.

8. List a few of the fundamental principles held by Western Civilization as a whole. The rule of law (as opposed to the rule of individual men and their whims); belief in the God of Israel; the value of the individual; an emphasis on education; technological progress; belief that the world is headed toward a final day of reckoning (13)

9. What culture or cultures other than the American culture especially interest you? Answers will vary.
10. Give three motivations for knowing what has happened and what is happening outside of your own community. Answers will vary.

Lesson 4

1. Why has religion dominated world history? Religion has dominated the thinking of people. (15)
2. How did Israel become a nation? God called them to Himself and made them His chosen people. (15)
3. What are some of the worldly motivations that have been veiled by supposed religious motivation? Desire for land, riches, and power; other answers possible (16-17)
4. What theory concerning government was challenged by philosophers such as John Locke? John Locke challenged the theory that kings were put in place by God and that therefore their authority was not to be questioned. (17)
5. In what way was the choice to make America's government representative motivated by religion? The Declaration of Independence states that all men "are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights." The divine right of kings was replaced in American thinking by the divine right of the people. (17)
6. What do you think the writers of the Constitution meant when they wrote: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion"? Possible answers: The American government must not establish one church or one religion as the official religion of the country; one church or religion must not be given state revenues; persons must not be persecuted for not participating in a certain religion. (17)
7. What problems surface when a religion is recognized and forced onto people by the government? Religion that gains political and economic power can become a hindrance to freedom. When people are forced to accept a certain religious faith, they may not truly believe it at all; and faith thus becomes a meaningless outward ritual instead of an inner life-changing reality. (17-18)
8. What are some of the problems that arise when governments actively oppose religion? A secularized people are liable to wind up supporting what is evil and taking innocent lives as official policy. (18)
9. What are some of the beliefs of secularism? Divinity does not exist or does not or should not influence public policy; religion is unimportant or a hindrance to the progress of society; there are no moral absolutes; other answers possible. (18)

Lesson 5

1. What is the First Cause? God (20)
2. What are the three manifestations of God? Father, Son, and Spirit (20)
3. Define time and eternity and how they relate to each other. Time is a unit of measurement in the created realm that we use to note the sequence or duration of events. Eternity is the realm in which God exists that has no measurement of time. (20)
4. List some of the ways Satan works to oppose God. As God is light, Satan is darkness; as God is truth, Satan is a liar. As God is love, Satan engenders hatred. God influences us to choose to do good; Satan tempts us to choose to do evil. (23)
5. What did God plan and provide for before He created the first human? Redemption in Jesus (20)
6. Whom did God choose before the foundation of the world to be holy and blameless before Him? Christians (21)
7. How can a person know his or her name is written in the book of life? By becoming a Christian (22)
8. How can one view all of world history through the reality of Christ? Jesus was the agent for God's creative work. Everything that exists is intended to give honor to Christ. Christ is the purpose for the world. (22)
9. Who is the ultimate expression of God's wisdom? Jesus (22)
10. How is the earth described in Genesis 1:2? The earth was formless and void and the Spirit of God moved over the face of the darkened deep. (23)

Unit 1 Quiz: 1. c; 2. a; 3. b; 4. b; 5. c; 6. c; 7. a; 8. d; 9. d; 10. a

Unit 2

Lesson 6

1. At what point does the history of mankind begin? God's creation of Adam (27)
2. How does man differ from the other aspects of creation? Man has a spiritual nature; he is made in God's image. (27)
3. What does the phrase "body and soul" describe? The physical and spiritual nature of man (27)
4. What are the different purposes of the creation accounts in Genesis 1 and 2? Genesis 1 leads up to the creation of man as the culmination of creation. Genesis 2 begins with man and emphasizes the Garden of Eden and the husband-wife relationship. (28)
5. Why do you think God created man to be in families? Answers will vary, but might include: it is not good for man to be alone; parent/child relationships teach us about our relationship with God; it is good for humans to have people to love. (28)
6. In what modern-day country is the Garden of Eden generally thought to have existed? Iraq (28)
7. According to Genesis 2, what did God provide for man in the Garden? In the Garden, God provided everything that man needed, but He imposed some limits on man. (28)
8. Why did God give limits to Adam and Eve? He intended for mankind to be subject to Him. (28)
9. What are some of the problems with regarding Genesis 1 as poetic and not literal? It presents the problem of deciding at what point in Genesis to begin regarding the text as literally true. Other answers possible. (29)
10. How does the Biblical account of creation differ from the Enuma Elish? In the Biblical account, one intelligent God purposely created an orderly world. He created people and cares for them. In Enuma Elish, many gods fight one another, and elements of the physical universe came into existence as the by-products of those battles. People were expected to care for the gods by providing sacrifices for them to eat. Other answers possible. (29)

Questions on Ko Nga Tama a Rangi
1. This is a traditional story of what people group in what country? The Maori in New Zealand (1)
2. Who do Rangi and Papa represent? Heaven and Earth (1)
3. What was discovered after Rangi and Papa were rent apart? The multitude of human beings whom they had begotten (2)

Lesson 7
1. Why is recognizing sin important in understanding world history? Sin is real. It affects individuals, communities, and entire nations. (31)
2. What are the consequences of sin? Punishment in this life or the next or both; harm to oneself and other people; separation from God; other answers possible (31)
3. What sinful motivations were behind Adam and Eve’s sinful actions? They wanted to be equal with God; they did not trust God; other answers possible. (32)
4. What second sin, committed by Adam, Eve, and Cain, do people often commit who are unwilling to confess their original sin? Denying that he or she sinned; making excuses; casting blame on someone else (32)
5. Whom did God curse for the sin in the garden? Adam, Eve, and the serpent (32)
6. Give some examples of God’s mastery over Satan. Jesus’ resurrection; the events in Revelation; the Spirit’s work in the lives of Christians; many answers possible (32)
7. What was the reason for the flood in which Noah and his family were saved? God was grieved that He had created man, and used the flood to start over. (32)
8. What was the sinful motivation behind construction of the tower and city on the plain of Shinar? The men wanted to make a name for themselves. (34)
9. What did God do that made it hard for men to work together? He multiplied their common language into many languages. (34)
10. What is the origin of the name Babylon? The tower and city built on the plain of Shinar came to be known as Babel, the Hebrew word for confuse. (34)

Questions on the Australian Aboriginal Flood Story
1. Who was Dumbi and what was the complaint he presented to the Supreme One? The Winking Owl; “The children mocked me; they held me in ridicule and persecuted me.” (3)
2. What animal did Gajara’s wife put in the oven that pleased the Supreme One? Kangaroo (5)
3. Why do you think the story uses Australian animals? Those were the animals the Aborigines would have known; other answers possible.

Lesson 8
1. Who built a city early in history and named it after his son? Cain (36)
2. For what is Jabal known? He was a nomad who lived in tents and kept livestock. (36)
3. Who was the originator of musical instruments? Jubal (36)
4. What kind of work began with Tubal-cain? Working with bronze and iron (36)
5. What does the description of the lifestyle of the first people on earth reveal about their intelligence, talent, and ability? They were able to grow food, create instruments and music, work with bronze and metal, and build cities; other answers possible. (36)
6. Who was the third named child born to Adam and Eve? Seth (37)
7. What significant spiritual change or beginning does Genesis record after the first mention of Seth’s son Enosh? People began to call on the name of the Lord. (37)
8. What two extraordinary statements are made in Genesis concerning Enoch? Enoch walked with God and Enoch was not for God took him. (37)
9. From what son of Noah is Abraham descended? Shem (37-38)
10. Why are differences in skin color insignificant? The Bible does not emphasize them and we are all the same underneath. (39)

Lesson 9
1. What is the name for the idea that the processes we see in the physical world today have always taken place at roughly the same rate? uniformitarianism (40)

2. What year did James Ussher calculate the earth to have been created? 4004 BC (40)

3. Who were some other men who calculated the age of the earth in thousands of years? Alphonso X, Josephus, Bede, Luther, Kepler (41)

4. How many years did Methuselah live? 969 years (41)

5. Give two theories for why men lived longer in the early years of the earth than they do today. God may have allowed them long life to have many children; the earth may have been purer and a better supporter of life. (41)

6. What is polygamy? Having more than one wife (42)

7. Name three men in the Bible who had more than one wife. Possible answers: Lamech, Jacob, Esau, David, Solomon, Rehoboam (42)

8. In what way did Lamech follow the example of his ancestor, Cain? Lamech was a murderer. (42)

9. What was the other name for the “mighty men of old”? Nephilim (42)

10. Describe how you believe a godly marriage should look. Answers will vary.

Questions on The Annals of the World

1. What does Ussher say of the attempt to give an exact astronomical table of time? It is a thing beyond human capacity (8)

2. Do you think knowing the age of the earth is important? Why or why not? Answers will vary.

Lesson 10

1. What is the most fundamental question man can consider? The existence of God (44)

2. What does a relationship with God require beyond knowledge? Faith or trust (44)

3. Who is one of the well-known proponents of the First Cause theory? Thomas Aquinas (45)

4. Give three examples not mentioned in the text of a thing in the universe and the thing or things that caused it. The spinning of the earth causes us to experience night and day; rain creates a stream; a tree produces apples; other answers possible.

5. Name three evidences of design you have noticed in the world. Many answers possible, including: a spider's web, the water cycle, seasons, phases of the moon

6. Explain this statement: It takes more faith (trusting in the unseen and unproven) to believe that our world just happened than to believe that an Intelligence lies behind it and guides it all. It is harder to believe that it just happened. It is easier to believe that it was created. (46)

7. Where does the moral standard come from? Outside man and society: from God (46)

8. What is the Biblical definition of a fool? A moral failure; a person who has rejected God and morally thrown his life away (47)

9. Why do you think the theory of evolution has such wide acceptance? People think they don’t have to deal with God if they believe in evolution; other answers possible.

10. Write a paragraph on this statement: “The French Revolution was a bad solution to a bad situation.” Answers will vary, but might include: France had a bad situation in the privilege of the wealthy and royal classes and in the poverty and lack of rights for the poor. The French Revolution supposedly was an attempt to bring about greater rights, but it actually resulted in bloody conflict among those who wanted political power, forced conformity to the ideas of those who held power, and little improvement in the conditions of the poor. The benefits of the revolution and later periods could have been accomplished without the terror and injustice that characterized it. The revolution was also a bad solution in that its leaders rejected God, who is the true solution for man’s problems.

Literary Analysis of North and South
Possible answers for plot elements:
Narrative hook: Could be Mr. Hale’s admission of doubts about Anglican doctrine and the subsequent move to Milton. This great change leads the reader to ask, “What will happen as a result of this?”

Inciting incident: The first conversation between Margaret and John. This lays out the differences between them, which is the major theme of the novel.

Climax: The scene at the railway station and Margaret’s subsequent lie serves well as the climax. In one way or another all of the major characters are involved in this event, and it deepens the interaction between Margaret and John.

Resolution: Margaret’s becoming John’s landlord and their admitting their love for each other. This resolves the conflict that began in their initial conversation.

Questions on The Abolition of Man
1. What book is Lewis’ subject? The Green Book
2. What particular comment in the book did Lewis criticize? Lewis criticized the view expressed in the book that to say a waterfall is sublime only means that the person’s feelings about the waterfall are sublime. The book rejected the idea that anything could be objectively sublime according to a permanent standard.
3. Why did he take issue with what the book said? The book gave support to the idea that nothing is absolute or true.
4. What is the term Lewis uses for ultimate truth? The Tao
5. What is the problem with denying absolutes, with “laughing at honor” as Lewis puts it? Without standards, people do not live as well and problems result.
6. What do those who deny the Tao say we should live by? They say we should live by instincts or feelings.
7. What is the abolition of man that Lewis is warning against? Rejecting the concept of absolutes makes man subservient to those who come before him and who plan his life on the basis of their beliefs. Man surrenders to other men and is conditioned by them. Thus he is no longer himself, subject to absolute truth as he should be. This is the abolition of man that Lewis warns against.
8. What do you think are the key ideas in the book? Answers will vary.
9. In your own words, rephrase one of Lewis’ points with which you agree. Answers will vary.
10. What questions or concerns do you have after reading the book? Answers will vary.
